National Poll Worker Recruitment Day is Tuesday, January 25, 2022

JACKSONVILLE – Duval County Supervisor of Elections, Mike Hogan, calls on all eligible Duval County voters to consider becoming poll workers.

“Recruiting poll workers is always a challenge in our county and in our nation,” Hogan said. “We are promoting National Poll Worker Recruitment Day on Tuesday, January 25, to get the word out and let people know how to become poll workers.”

To learn more about becoming a poll worker, please visit www.duvalelections.gov, click the “Poll Workers” tab on the left, and then click the “Poll Worker Information” tab.

You may also contact Greg Clark, Director of Community Outreach and Events for more information. His email address is gaclark@duvalelections.gov, and his telephone number is 904-255-3422.

“By becoming a poll worker, you will help strengthen our democracy, inspire greater civic engagement, and help Duval County voters to exercise their right to confidently cast their ballot,” Hogan added.
